

Directions to the 'Tennis Elbow Research' at the University of Queensland

2. By bus

There are two bus stations located at the University of Queensland - Chancellor's Place bus station and UQ lakes bus station. The Chancellor's Place bus stop is the most convenient for access to the Therapies Building 84A (directions see below). For directions from the Lakes Bus station please refer to the next page.

The Chancellor's Place bus station is opposite the physiotherapy clinic. Cross the road at the bus stop and walk down Services Rd. The entrance to building 84A is on your right at the bottom of the hill. Take the lift to the 5th floor. Turn right after exiting the lift and walk to the end of the corridor to find Room 525.

Directions to the 'Tennis Elbow Research' at the University of Queensland

1. By bus from the Lakes District Bus Stop (from Southern suburbs) or walking from Annerley (Southern suburbs) over the footbridge

- When you are at the bus-stop just after Eleanor Schonell Bridge (Green Bridge) you will see 2 lakes on your left.
- Walk up the slope taking the path which is nearer to the 2 lakes.
- Near the end of this path, is a small flight of stairs. Go up the stairs and you will see a row of Bamboo trees on your right side. Walk along side the Bamboo trees until you come to the road. (House Road)
- Make a right turn and walk about 40m from here. You will see the entrance to the great court on your left side as you enter Campbell place.
- Walk through the great court until you reach the other side of it. Walk down the slope and cross the road using the zebra crossing.
- Otto Hirschfeld Building (81) should be right in front of you. Make a right turn and the next sign you see will be Therapies Building 84A.
- Take the lift to 5th floor, turn right upon exiting the lift, go through the glass doors. Room 525 (testing room) is at the end of the corridor.
